Who We Are

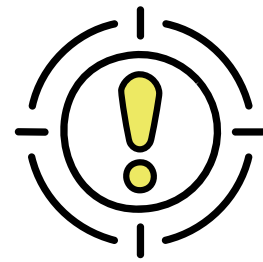

ScioLabs is an educational-innovation organisation dedicated to designing engaging, context-specific training for educators and professionals across sectors. With experience working with leading institutions such as ONGC, AIIMS, and other national organizations, we specialize in experiential learning, digital pedagogy, and large-scale learning delivery, impacting over 18,000 learners through 250+ workshops.

In the theological space, ScioLabs works closely with the ATA and leading seminaries for equipping theological educators with skills in digital pedagogy, learner engagement, and educational technology, helping institutions make theological education more relevant, effective, and responsive to today's learners.

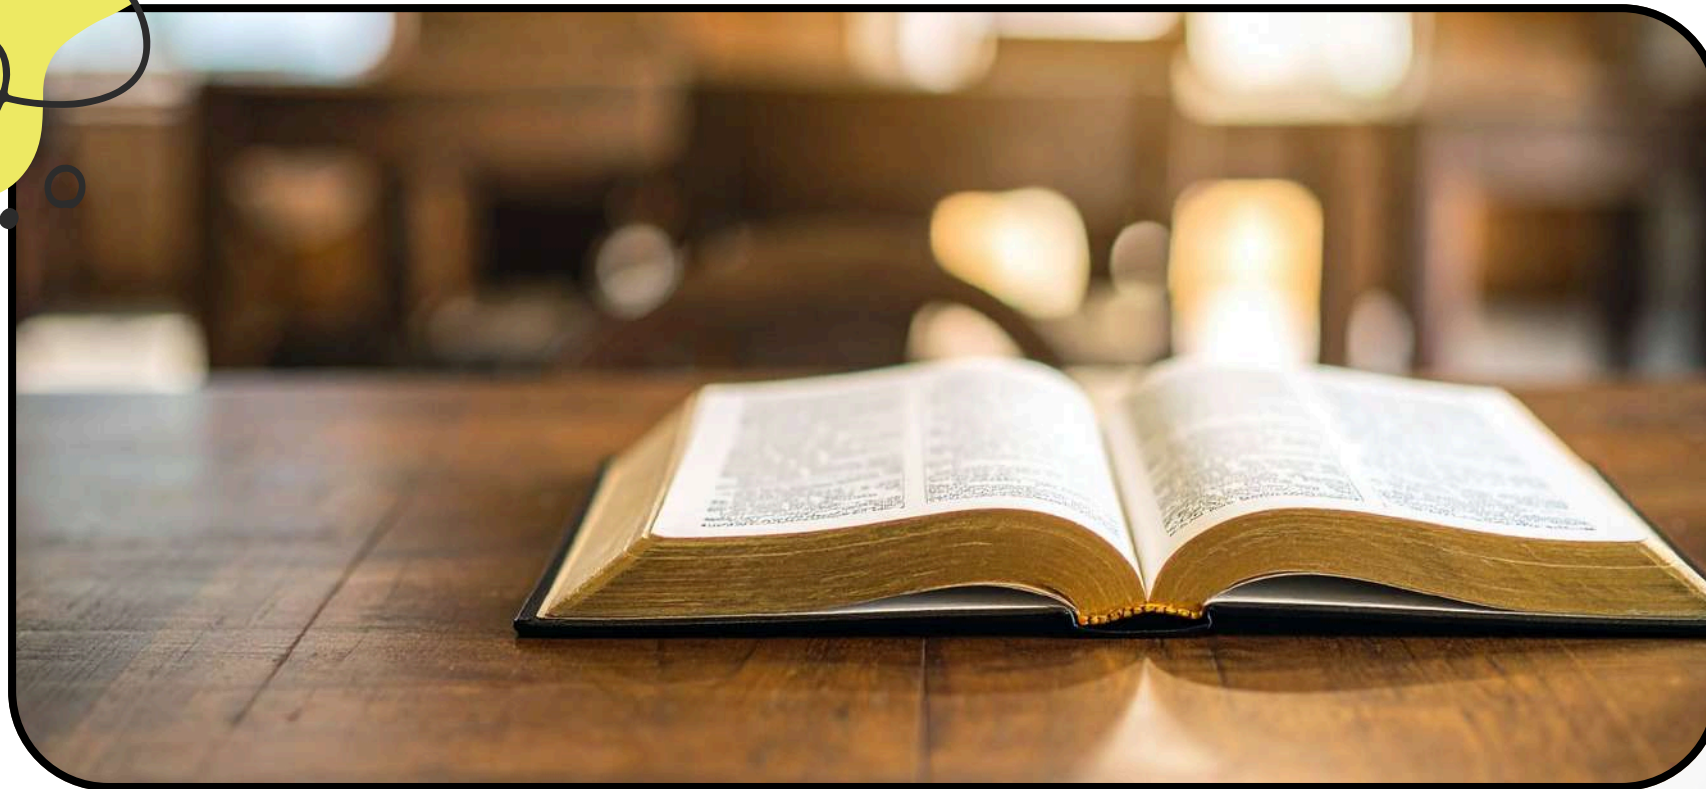

General English does not match the language used in theological writing and C1+ (CEFR) level books.

English is often a barrier to understanding Scripture and engaging with theological texts.

Affects student output and reduces the overall effectiveness of theological programs.

Why English matters in theological education?

What we offer?

A learning portal for students and teachers to access via unique login IDs.

A learner's workbook for students to follow along the course selected.

Detailed lesson plans and group revision games for teachers to use in class.

Assessment questions with answer keys will be provided to teachers after each unit.

A completion certification for students once the course is done.

“Diverse teaching methodologies – video lessons, activities, assignments, and assessments – played a vital role in enhancing English proficiency.” - Susan, ACCOT Kerala”

“Students greatly benefited from the lessons, interactive games, and gamified online learning.” – Jemmy, JMBC Chennai”
